Aim

The aim of the course is to provide a broad overview of different areas of social work and social welfare in Sweden. The course is designed for international exchange students, and presents a variety of aspects of social work in Sweden.
Course objectives

Students who successfully complete the course will

- have knowledge of social welfare and several specific fields of social work in Sweden (organisation, funding, different models of welfare, care and treatment, education and other aspects)
- have knowledge of differences and similarities in social work and social welfare between countries
- be able to find facts, figures, literature and research on social work in Sweden through resources available on the Internet
- be able to give an individual written and oral presentation of a specific aspect of social work or social welfare in Sweden.

Content

Through a set of one or two week modules the students will learn about different aspects of social work and social welfare in Sweden. Content may differ from one semester to another. Example of modules that could appear on the course: Human rights and Public Law in Sweden, Addictions, International social work, Intercultural social work, Community work, Gender and social work, Social services in Sweden, How to find facts, figures, literature and research on social work in Sweden (module integrated in essay work).

There will be lectures, seminars and study visits to social services and local NGO’s.

Entry requirements
